

Opposing Viewpoints (For Pro / Con Research): Finding Magazine and Journal Articles

Opposing Viewpoints in Context is a good “starting off” point for your research.

After clicking “Most Popular”, select Opposing Viewpoints Resource Center.

This is the Opposing Viewpoints homepage. You can browse for issues by clicking the link to “Browse Issues”

Once you click the “Browse Issues” tab, click on the topic of your choice!

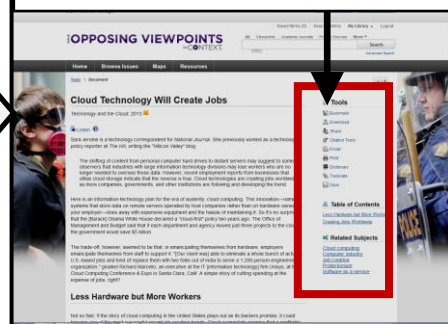

OR you could enter a search using search terms of your choice.

Either way, you will find articles and statistics that would be helpful for your research. Look at Featured Viewpoints and Viewpoints.

Here is an article. Under “Tools”, you will be able to print, email, or save the article to your computer.

SIRS Research Issues (For Pro / Con Research): Finding Magazine and Journal Articles

- Click on Articles Databases eBook
- Scroll down to Social Issues, Controversial and Debate Topics.
- Click on SIRS Issue Researcher.

Enter your search terms here. Choose from Subject Headings or a Keyword search.

You can select from various topics like with Opposing Viewpoints.

The top 10 topics.

Links to other resources

Narrow Your Search:
You will be able to narrow your search to magazine articles, newspapers, or other forms of print.

All of these articles are full-text.

Email the article with the citation.

Citation:
See the MLA citation

